ANNUAL LUNCHEON

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB FUNCTION A BRILLIANT AND LARGELY ATTENDED AFFAIR

When two hundred or more women leave a luncheon declaring it was the finest the club has ever enjoyed as they did following the annual function of the Tuesday Afternoon Club which was enjoyed yesterday afternoon—the 24th—in the banquet hall of the First Methodist Church, it is trustworthy proof of excellence. The banquet was prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid of that church. It was a three-course affair and all delicious from the chicken patties with their appetizing accessories to the feathery home-made cake served with the ice cream and after dinner coffee. Most attractive were the tables centered with white baskets filled with Shasta daisies and ferns and tied with yellow tulle streamers, the yellow and green being repeated in the dainty bon bon baskets.

Special guests of honor at the table of the retiring president, Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, were Mrs. Sidney T. Exley, president-elect of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Bartlett, a past president of the Los Angeles Ebell Club who was introduced by Mrs. Ramsay and made the address of the afternoon, her theme being "Reconstruction." Her clever introduction was a speculation on the origin of the after dinner speech. When she reached her subject she declared that construction and reconstruction are two very different things. She then compared the work of the man who should take materials new and sound and with them construct a building, with the heavier task of the man who must gather up the fragments and clean the brick and adapt his building to the available materials. Said she:

"Today, we in the world who face reconstruction are in a far more serious position than if we were about to construct something new, for we must use what has been left us and must understand its weaknesses. In approaching the task the two great necessities are faith and courage. If we did not believe in the future and had not courage to undertake this task it never would be accomplished. I remember standing on a hill in San Francisco a few days after the fire and looking over that city where I could see scarcely a building stand-

UNIQUE PET

The two small daughters of Mrs. M. L. Russell, 322 Riverdale Drive, and their little cousins Barbara and Doris Stamps of Lomita avenue have received a most unique present from their uncle, who is a lieutenant in the navy. It is a young deer, which was caught in Nicaragua and which has been a pet of all on board the U. S. S. Nanshan for the past five months. The deer has traveled over 2900 miles, principally on board ship, but coming from San Diego by auto. It is a beautiful creature and as tame as any dog. The children consider themselves fortunate in possessing such an unusual pet.

CELEBRATES NINTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. F. P. Allen of 1323 East Wilson avenue entertained Tuesday afternoon friends of her daughter Virginia, in celebration of her ninth birthday. It was a lawn party and the boys and girls enjoyed a variety of games and were also entertained with some fancy dancing by Anne Wilkinson and Evelyn Meeker, music being supplied by the phonograph which was one of the birthday gifts received by Virginia. The guest list included Virginia and Mabel Horner, Frances and Wilma Kulp, Esther Haines, Dorothy and Margaret Dampff, Evelyn Meeker, Nellie Jepson, Anne Wilkinson, Bernice Geiff, Shirley Martin, Daisy G. Davies, Alvera Crawford, Barbara Gilman, Marjorie Carney, Master John Eilers, Gilbert Groutage, Louis Geiff, and Pearl Allen. Refreshments of the usual party sort were served by the hostess and the company spent a delightful afternoon as all know each other well and are congenial.

OVEN PAYS STRICT ATTENTION TO BUSINESS

Henry Walsma of the Broadway Bakery is more delighted each day at the performance of his new window oven. All that has to be done is to place the loaves on the swinging trays in the big oven, start the rotary movement and then leave it alone for the proper time. The loaves come out brown and crisp, baked just right, and most enticing to the eager onlookers, who crowd the windows to watch the performance.

IN NEW MOWN HAY

DAN KELTY GOES "DOWN ON THE FARM" FOR AN OUTING

Dan Kelty, Jr., his wife and the two children arrived at home yesterday from Denair, 320 miles north, where they had been spending three weeks with Mrs. Kelty's parents, A. P. Stone and wife, who formerly lived in Tropico. They now own a 26-acre ranch near Denair, which is in Stanislaus county, about 35 miles northwest of Merced and four miles northeast of Turlock. The Stones rent quite a bit of land and raise alfalfa for the market on quite an extensive scale, and also do some dairying. Dan says he had a fine rest pitching alfalfa about in the fields. The great crop in that section, however, is cantaloupes, and there are 9000 acres of this fruit which will begin to move to the markets in about a month. They are raised almost exclusively by Japs and Portuguese. These men are very busy now getting their packing sheds repaired and fixing up their shipping crates by the thousands. Threshing machines are busy in the great wheat fields and the corn is coming along wonderfully, Dan says. On the trip both ways they went by way of Bouquet Canyon, the Ridge Route being closed for repairs and hard surfacing. When that is completed the roads will be ideal all the way from Glendale to San Francisco by way of the Valley Route. On the return trip they started at 8 in the morning and traveled all day and night to reach home. They came down Bouquet Canyon in the night and had not the slightest trouble, though they found it rather rough traveling most of the way. The weather was delightfully cool and pleasant, all the way, going and coming. At 9 o'clock Monday night they stopped at Chandler's, about 5 miles north of the junction of the Bouquet Canyon and Ridge Route highways. Mr. Chandler has moved there from Elizabeth Lake and Dan says he has an ideal stopping place at the new location. One thing that Dan noticed particularly in his travels was the multiplying of auto camping stations along the routes. Cities seem to be vying with each other in this respect. At Ceres, in Stanislaus county, a large sign directs the autoist to the auto park, where he finds tents to rest or stay all night in, toilets, lavatories, shower baths and fresh drinking water. All these are free. At Tulare there are equally fine free accommodations. Dan thinks Glendale is missing a great opportunity to attract auto travel by failing to establish such a park.

HOME FROM YOSEMITE

Mrs. Louise Purnell of 337 Riverdale Drive, her brother, Geo. Hirsch, and Tom Morgan, returned yesterday from a two-weeks' trip to Yosemite. They found the roads very bad, Mrs. Purnell says, and think the Park not a sufficient attraction to pay for the wear and tear on the auto.

IT IS HOPED STRIKE SETTLEMENT NEAR

R. P. Jodon of 224 South Louise went down to San Pedro yesterday to work with one of the committees endeavoring to end the strike of workmen in the Los Angeles Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Company, which has been in progress for over three weeks, at a loss in wages to the men of over a million dollars already and to the company in contracts of many millions. It is hoped to settle the strike amicably this week. There has not been a hint of violence by the strikers at any time, but many of them, possibly half, have gone to other places and secured work. As nearly all those remaining have homes either in San Pedro, Long Beach, Los Angeles or other nearby cities, they hope to see the strike settled soon so they will not have to move.

GREATER GLENDALE DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION

Association met in regular session in library room of Grammar School Tuesday evening, Norton C. Wells, presiding, and C. D. Lusby serving as secretary.

L. T. Rowley and Capt. D. Ripley Jackson gave detailed account of visit to Aluminum Honey-comb Factory at Uplands. Attorney L. Chandler gave report of commercial standing of Aluminum Honey-comb Co. On motion, report was ordered filed with secretary and will be published in full later.

O. E. Van Oven, 421 Vine street, was present, and spoke vehemently against the Los Angeles annexation propaganda that is being worked in Glendale. Others spoke on the same subject.

PEREMPTORY DEMAND ON GERMANY

"BIG FOUR" REQUIRES HER TO FURNISH IMMEDIATELY FULL PERSONNEL OF SIGNING DELEGATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, June 25.—It was reported here today that the "Big Four" yesterday afternoon made a peremptory demand upon Germany to name the full personnel of the delegation which is to sign the peace treaty, immediately. Foreign Minister Mueller has been named as the head of the delegation but no announcement has been made of the other members.

It has been authoritatively stated that the treaty will be signed between the hours of eleven and two Friday. President Wilson will leave immediately after the ceremony.

WINNIPEG'S GENERAL STRIKE ENDS

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES THAT IT AND ALL SYMPATHETIC STRIKES WILL END THURSDAY AT 11 A. M.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WINNIPEG, June 25.—Following an all-night session the general strike committee announced that the general strike which has been in progress here for forty days will end at 11 o'clock Thursday. The sympathetic strikes which have been called in other cities will end at the same time.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES ARRESTED

WILL BE BROUGHT TO LOS ANGELES TO BE TRIED FOR STEALING MACHINE FROM THERE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—C. J. Deschamps and G. W. McFadden who were arrested in San Francisco charged with stealing a valuable automobile here, will be brought to Los Angeles for trial. They were arrested in San Francisco last night. They narrowly escaped capture when the machine was wrecked at San Luis Obispo. The authorities say they are wanted on similar charges in Denver, Colo., and Dallas, Tex.

TO INCREASE STATE REVENUES

SPECIAL SENATE COMMITTEE HOLDS HEARINGS TO DEVISE WAYS AND MEANS OF FILLING TREASURY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—The special state legislative committee headed by Senator King of Redlands has begun hearings on means of raising additional state revenues. Increased corporation, income and inheritance taxes have been suggested to the committee.

HONORS TO CALIFORNIANS

AMERICANS WIN FIRST THREE PLACES IN INTER-ALLIED FINALS ON HAND GRENADE THROWING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PERSHING STADIUM, June 25.—Americans won the first three places in finals in the hand grenade throwing contest, the first final event of the inter-allied athletic championships. Fred Thomson of Los Angeles was first, Sam Thompson, second, D. V. Wycavage, third. Fred Kelly of Los Angeles won his preliminary heat on 110-meter hurdles.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT BILL

HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE MEASURE DIFFERS BUT LITTLE FROM BILL ADVOCATED BY "DRYS"

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The House Judiciary Committee has completed the prohibition enforcement bill. The measure as accepted by the committee is but little changed from the bill the Drys advocated. The chief provisions are:

Any beverage containing one-half of one per cent. of alcohol is intoxicating.

It is unlawful "to manufacture, sell, barter, give away, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish, receive, possess" intoxicants excepting for medicinal, sacramental, or scientific purposes;

Liquor bought before prohibition became effective and stored in private homes may be kept for private use;

The penalties are $100 to $500 fine for first offense, $200 to $1000 fine and thirty to ninety days' imprisonment for second offense, and minimum of $500 fine and six months' to two years' imprisonment for subsequent offenses;

Physicians may prescribe liquor for medicinal purposes, but not oftener than once in ten days for the same patient;

All liquor illegally held must be disposed of within ten days after the law becomes effective;

Liquor advertisements and recipes for making liquor are prohibited;

Anyone injured by an intoxicated person may recover damages from the person who sold the intoxicated person the liquor;

Bootleggers are subject to a fine of $500 to $1000 and imprisonment for from one month to a year.

ANNEXATION FAR AWAY

GLENDALE MAN WANTS TO HEAR DISCUSSION OF IMPORTANT QUESTION

The Editor,
Evening News,
Glendale, Cal.
Dear Sir:—

With reference to annexation to Los Angeles: As a citizen of Glendale, I should like to hear more discussion of this important question before any serious steps are taken toward joining the fortunes of Glendale with those of the larger city.

What are the advantages, and what the disadvantages of such a union? What do we now suffer from, that will be cured? Who are the chief advocates of the plan, and what are their reasons for advising the alteration?

As an independent city, we should not allow ourselves to drift into such a move without the will of the great majority, unmistakably expressed, for once done, our identity is lost, and the step irretraceable, practically, if not in theory.

We are at the parting of the ways. It is now the clear duty of all good citizens to come forward and express their opinions.

Glendale is a beautiful place as it is. Joining Los Angeles might be a good thing. I do not know, but I want to be told, why. On this subject I think we ought all to "come from Missouri."

Yours truly,
D. N. WEMYSS,
924 E. Windsor Rd., Glendale.

Mr. Wemyss:—

You perhaps are aware that Los Angeles city has constantly at work an annexation commission which is using ways and means to add additional territory to their city that the bonding capacity may be increased. Of course, that commission has its henchmen in every city adjacent to Los Angeles, who are ever on the alert to oppose every local improvement on the ground that annexation to Los Angeles will solve all problems of discontent. Their assertions are worth no more than the paper on which they are printed.

Three years ago when Glendale was about to secure an independent postoffice those henchmen opposed it, fearing that an independent postoffice would give to our beautiful little city greater prestige, and the chances for annexation to Los Angeles would be lessened. These men oppose every thing that is for Glendale's benefit so it will make it easier for them to prove that Glendale as a distinct municipality is not a success.

It is now a known fact that the Glendale sewer problem can be satisfactorily settled without the city becoming annexed to Los Angeles. These annexation enthusiasts will not admit this because it is adverse to their annexation program. The telephone toll, car fare and gas rates are not governed by annexation. The State Railroad Commission is the rate fixing power, and these men who are telling you differently know only too well that they are deceiving you. Do not be deceived.—Editor.

GALLANT BOYS FETE GIRL CONQUERORS

R. P. Jodon's class of boys in the Intermediate Department of the Central Christian Sunday School recently engaged in an efficiency contest with O. L. Kilborn's class of High School girls in the same department. The latter won by a very small margin and while no prize was contended for the boys and their teacher felt that they wished to honor the victors in some way, so decided to give them a "June Bug" party. It was at Mr. Jodon's, 224 South Louise, last evening. The boy hosts were Laufman Jeter, Alton Mattice and Roland Current. The other member of the class, Livingston Thom, was unable to be present. The boys were assisted by their teacher, R. P. Jodon, his wife, Earl, Mrs. Stem and little Dorothy. Music and games were indulged in and refreshments of cake and strawberry sherbet were served. The girls present with their teacher were Misses Inez Cazer, Marian Springer, Beatrice Bolen, Eula Stevenson, Fern Peters and Avis Thompson. The latter was accompanied by her guest, Miss Dorothy Andrews, of Los Angeles.

CRUSHED UNDER BLOCK OF ICE

It certainly was the "irony of fate" that a Los Angeles boy should be crushed under a cake of ice, yesterday, when the mercury was 90 in the shade, crippling him for life. He was stealing a ride on a truck piled high with 300-lb. blocks, when one of them became dislodged, fell and crushed him.

FOOD PRICES

WASHINGTON ADVICES KILL HOPES OF RELIEF IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Glendale householders who have been treasuring the fond delusion that prices of food commodities are due for a decided drop have another guess coming, according to Washington advices. With nearly the whole of Europe to feed until well into 1920 and higher wage demands continually, American dealers and manufacturers see nothing in sight but much higher prices. In fact, there has been a steady increase the past two months with general upward average of 2 per cent. Some articles have registered an advance of 7 to 10 per cent. and others have been at a standstill. Tea, coffee, chocolate, cocoa, butter and eggs show the greatest increases. Whether or not any of this is due to profiteering on the part of importers and middlemen is a problem. A Brazilian ship captain recently declared that the coffee selling here for 75c a pound was but 12½c in Brazil, while bags of green coffee by the millions were piled up on every wharf awaiting shipment to America. This state of affairs has been hinted at before, but has not been absolutely proven. The President of the American Specialty Manufacturers' Association, in a paper read recently before a convention of the National Retail Grocers' Association, urged all retailers to buy heavily as any reduction in stocks would cause manufacturers to curfail production.

HUGE BATTLE FLEET FOR PACIFIC

It is possible that ere vacation time is over Glendale people will be spending their week-ends at one of the harbor cities instead of going off on trips of several days. If War Department plans as now outlined are carried into effect as soon as proposed, there will be great sights along the ocean front this summer. The giant dreadnaught Pennsylvania, now the flagship of the Atlantic squadron, will be assigned to the Pacific fleet, which will also include the battleships Virginia, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Georgia, Nebraska, Vermont, Oklahoma, Nevada, Tennessee, New Mexico, Arizona, Idaho and Mississippi, and the cruisers North Carolina, Montana, Pueblo, Vicksburg, Machias, Marblehead, Tacoma, Denver, Cleveland and Chicago. There will be a destroyer fleet of 107 vessels, also. The flagship will be the Birmingham. This vast fleet of more than 125 vessels will make a most imposing appearance.

PENNSYLVANIA PICNIC

Former residents of Pennsylvania, now in Southern California, will enjoy an all-day picnic Saturday, June 28th, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. Hot coffee will be served free to all purchasers of badges. County headquarters and registers will be open all day where friends may meet. The monthly meeting of the Pennsylvania Association will be held in Forum Hall, Mercantile Place, Los Angeles, July 10th, at 8 p. m.

"THE GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND"

Vallo V. Naudain who came home from war service a few days ago to take up work again with his brother, Earl, in the Glendale Electric Co., expects to leave Saturday next for Angola, Ind., where he will visit his parents and wed the girl of his choice, who has been waiting for him the past three years. The war interrupted their plans but now that peace has come their long-delayed happiness is about to be realized. Vallo enlisted in the navy and was detailed to the transport service. For the last few months his ship has been making regular trips, taking over a load of supplies and bringing back a crowd of happy soldier lads.

CAUSE OF SEDIMENT IN CITY WATER

Owing to complaints regarding the sediment in the water, specimens have been collected and examined by bacteriologists. They report that it is due to the presence of vegetable growths which in themselves are harmless but objectionable from an aesthetic standpoint. This is a temporary condition and steps have already been taken to eliminate the growth.

R. E. CHASE, M. D.,
Health Officer.

LONDON.—One hundred and fifty obsolete warships are to be sold by the British Navy, according to a statement by Under-Secretary Macnamara.

BLAME BRITAIN FOR SINKINGS

The Inter-Allied Naval commission will take England severely to task for allowing the German warships to be sunk while in their charge. Some Paris papers hint that England connived at sinking to settle vexed problem of disposal of the warships. England persistently urged, some time back, that all the ships be sunk, fearing, the French declared, that if they were divided pro rata among the Allies that France's and America's navies would be enlarged to more nearly equal England's. Italians and Japanese are also greatly worked up over the sinkings and blame England severely. Also the American delegation at Paris is resentful, because it adds another victory to the defeated Huns and really makes all the Allies a laughing stock for being so easily hoodwinked by the German officers and seamen responsible for the sinking.

REVISION OF MARITIME CODES URGENT NEED

If the war has proved anything it has proved that under modern conditions the old safeguards for the neutral are of no avail, and that in a world war the rags and shreds of any maritime code with no better guarantee than the past has provided will flutter in the wind. If the maritime codes are to be framed, on the basis of acceptance of war as the expected state of affairs instead of the exception, each nation will agree to concede only what it thinks it can yield without weakening itself as a belligerent, and the resulting compromise is not likely to be more satisfactory than the compromises of the past. When, after centuries of struggle to make the law of war on the sea more in accordance with justice and humanity, it is possible for the argument to be put forth that the sinking of the Lusitania came within the letter of the law, is it not time to tear up the poor fabric and rear a better law upon a better basis?—Louise Farge Brown in "The Freedom of the Seas."

MILLIONS IN THE SCRAP HEAP

Superannuated after their years of efficient and appreciated service under the flag of the United States of America, twelve battleships of the pre-dreadnaught type, mounting mixed batteries, have been, or are about to be, placed out of commission. The official announcement from Washington is that they will eventually be broken up for junk, or be used as targets for more modern vessels of the navy. These twelve vessels, now regarded as obsolete, because of their inability to compete in naval warfare as it is waged at the present day, were built between the years 1893 and 1901, at a cost, for hulls and machinery, of $90,000,000. This cost, roughly estimated, represented approximately a dollar for each person in the United States at that time, and while the total outlay and the present apparent loss may at first seem large, it is both logical and just, if any defense of the policy of the Administration is deemed necessary, to point to the fact that every resident of the United States whose dollar was invested in these ships may congratulate himself, or herself, that after years of sturdy service these defenders of freedom are to be disposed of by their friends, as may be deemed fit, and that they never hauled down their colors under fire. Many a worse fate for a battleship might be imagined than that of being brought home and retired.

Hosts of people in the United States, as well as in other parts of the world, well remember the famous "forced march" of the historic Oregon, one of the 12 battleships placed on the retired list, when it steamed from the Pacific to the Atlantic, around the Horn, at the time of the Spanish-American War. In the estimation of many people of the United States, this single performance, perhaps vitally necessary in the undertaking in which the armed forces of the United States were then engaged, repaid, to every American the dollar which, theoretically, he had invested in the 12 ships now declared obsolete. Free Cuba, to the Cubans, at least, is worth more than the first cost of the discarded fleet.

But in counting the cost and estimating the return upon the investment which has been made by the ships, the greatest consideration, after all, is the important part they played for many years in upholding the traditions of freedom and liberty. Each of them, the Oregon, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Maine, Illinois, Alabama, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, and the sturdy Kearsarge, has done her duty under all conditions that have been imposed.—Christian Science Monitor.

When Mother Baked Her Own Bread

About the only joy she got out of the operation was the relish with which the family consumed it. Bread as good as ours relieves her of all the work and she derives the same benefit of family approval.

No mother ever made bread better or more nourishing than this, with the well browned, crisp, crackly crust, and tasty, appetizing body.
Our bread fresh from the oven every forty minutes.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON

ing and seeing men coming in even then and beginning to dig for the foundations of a new city. With that same faith must we today face the problems of the future.

"The foundations of this republic were laid deep and strong in a passion for liberty and especially for liberty of religion. For one hundred years we have been building on that structure, and very much of our building has been the straw and stubble of a rush of wealth. All that has been burned away in the ruin that has overtaken us, but the foundation laid by our forefathers stands and is the America of today upon which we must build the future to which this republic should attain.

"What have we been building the past hundred years? We hear it said that this is the greatest age the world has ever seen in science, invention and material development. But all this is for man's physical well being. The coming hundred years—the coming five years must be devoted to the things of the soul.

"We are fortunate in meeting on the day of peace, the day we hope will bring peace to the world and yet we know laws cannot make good men, that leagues cannot bring peace, that righteousness alone exalteth a nation. But out of the wreck and ruin of the past, in fancy we can see a beautiful structure rise in which men may mete out justice and receive justice, in which men will desire only the good of their fellow men; and surely in the foundations of that structure we will see written; 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and thy neighbor as thyself.'" (Prolonged applause).

Following the address a brief intermission was taken while the tables were being cleared. Then the ladies were called to order by Mrs. Ramsay for a brief business session which opened with the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Harry Duffield, secretary, and the reading of communications and announcements.

Mrs. E. H. Willisford then offered the following resolution on behalf of the Club addressed "to you, our beloved president, Mrs. Ramsay, who during the past two years, the hardest ever experienced in the world, have in your splendid and versatile wisdom been the leader of the club. During these years while many organizations suffered keenly in numbers and interest, our club has made the greatest growth in its history not only numerically, but also in efficiency and adaptability to the unusual conditions. All this has been done largely through your wise and intelligent leadership. For your important share in the enviable list of achievements we thank you. For your sympathy, your loyalty, your charming personality, we love you."

The resolution was unanimously adopted and an engrossed copy of it was presented to Mrs. Ramsay by Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. C. E. Norton tendering immediately after a beautiful bunch of red roses as a further expression of the regard of the club.

With gracious dignity Mrs. Ramsay made a fitting response declaring the club had given her "too much credit" and that "if we have been able to accomplish anything it is because we have worked together as a unit. I shall always remember this day and the tributes you have given me."

Mrs. John Robert White then submitted her supplementary report as treasurer which showed a cash balance of $572.75. She stated that $2300 of club assets are invested in war bonds and that $500 of the balance reported would be placed at interest for the benefit of the Club House Fund, the total club assets therefore being represented by this $2800 invested and the two building lots owned by the club.

Mrs. W. L. Andrews as the club's representative in the work of the Juvenile Protective Association, reported some of the helpful things done by the association in which she had been able to participate and of her pleasure in the service.

Mrs. Evans moved that the club give a moment to silent thanksgiving because of the signing of the peace treaty on this day and that a record be made in the minutes of the club.

By vote the club adopted the suggestion and a very impressive moment followed.

Mrs. Oliver Clark made a request for donations of fruit to be canned by members of the philanthropic section.

A musical and literary program then opened with piano numbers by Miss Gertrude Champlain who played two compositions by Julius Kranz, formerly of this city, part of a suite called "California," charming creations beautifully interpreted.

Readings, chiefly child delineations, were given by Miss Dorothy Williams who delighted all hearers with her characterizations in "The Runaway" and "The Spoiled Child" by Riley, and "I Fell Down in de Mud."

Very beautiful vocal numbers were contributed by Mrs. Ethel Gerber of Los Angeles, a member of the Lyric Club and pupil of Mr. Poulin, director of that club. She sang "The Spirit Flower" by Martin Stanton and "Her Rose" by Coombs, both unusual, and both sung with rare intelligence.

The installation of the officers for the coming year by Mrs. Exley, the District President-elect, brought the program to a close. She remarked that it would be memorable to her from the fact that it was the first official task she had undertaken since her investment with the responsibilities of the office, to which she was not yet accustomed. She said: "I am looking forward to much pleasure as well as serious work for my coming two years and I believe every other club woman has her face turned toward the light, too."

As their names were called by Mrs. Exley the officers stepped forward to the platform: Mrs. A. W. Tower, president; Mrs. C. H. Temple, first vice-president; Mrs. Harry Duffield, secretary; Mrs. A. P. Findlay, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Robert White, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mrs. C. E. Norton and Mrs. William Nash, directors.

In the eloquence of Mrs. Exley's admonitions, the service she performed became a beautiful rite. Among other good things she said: "Every man and woman who strikes, blows for right must be just as good an anvil as he is a hammer. We must take as much as we give out and if we give to our clubs the best that is in us, in like measure will it return to us."

On behalf of the Board Mrs. Tower thanked Mrs. Exley for the beautiful installation service and its inspiration. Said she: "My prayer is that this may be a year great in the annals of club history. The club is a wonderful institution and as I look over the women in this audience, most of whom are club members, I realize it is a body of women of whom we have reason to be proud, but there is work to be done, and a strenuous year is before us."

Mrs. Tower then took the gavel as presiding officer and announced that a list of her committee appointments would be published in the near future.

The session ended with the singing by the audience of the last verse of "A Perfect Day," with Miss Champlain at the piano.

WOULD RECOVER DRUMS

An odd aftermath of the American Revolution comes in the desire of the Royal Scots Fusiliers to recover, if possible, the regimental drums that disappeared when General Burgoyne surrendered to General Gates, at Saratoga, in 1777. The Royal Scots Fusiliers were known as the North British Fusiliers when they fought under Burgoyne. Looking backward, the loss of its drums was a serious matter in the traditions of the regiment, and may even account for the change of name. But the Royal Scots Fusiliers have today erased any such cause of regret from the record of their eighteenth century campaign in America, and can well afford to take the bitter with the sweet in reviewing their history. So the drums are something that they feel they can look for and cherish. One hopes that somewhere in America the ancient drums can be located and returned to the Fusiliers.—C. S. Monitor.

GERMANY IN WHITE HEAT OF FUTILE RAGE

Germany just now is a seething cauldron of passion, arrogance and helpless rage. With their code of "might makes right," and "the weak are necessarily the spoil of the strong," they have not the consolation of "defeat with honor" to fall back upon. When Lee and Johnston finally laid down their arms to the victorious Federal generals a little more than 54 years ago they did so with the consciousness that, though they fought in a wrong cause, their soldiers had performed prodigies of valor and been honorable foes. But the Germans in their disgraceful defeat can look back upon repeated violations of the laws of war and of common humanity. The only approach to chicalrous action shown by a German combatant was among the flyers and the few of those who showed such traits were overshadowed by the brutal bombers of hospitals and open cities. In their futile rage the Germans today are violating armistice conditions and showing devilish hate and deepest ingratitude toward their conquerors, who, despite their appalling crimes, have treated them as human beings since hostilities ceased. Will Germany now break into numerous petty monarchies and republics, in the hope of evading the payment of indemnities? That seems to be their intention now and it is the problem of the Allies to prevent this.

MILLIONS OF ROSES

(By United Press)

LONDON, June 25.—"Alexandra Day," which was inaugurated in 1913 to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival in England of Queen-Mother Alexandra, is being celebrated today, and from an early hour this morning pedestrians were waylaid by white-robed women and girls, selling the little pink roses associated with the festival. The pink rose was the only badge that ensured immunity from the attacks of the flower-sellers, 10,000 of whom stormed London this morning. Over fourteen million imitation roses were made by crippled children and soldiers, the proceeds of the sales going to charities selected by the Queen-Mother.

The flower-sellers included most of the leaders of British aristocracy and society, duchesses, marchionesses, countesses, leading stage beauties and others raiding the city and fashionable West End districts. Huge collections were made round the stock exchange, the financial magnates frequently paying $50 and $25 for a rose. "No change" was the motto of the sellers, although there was no fixed charge for the flowers, and the penny of the street loafer was accepted as readily as the ten-pound note of the plutocrat.

During the afternoon Queen-Mother Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria, drove through the West End and City. Four hundred towns in England and Scotland are participating and the total collection this year is expected to beat all records.

INSOLENT TO THE LAST

There was a touch of the dramatic in the closing of the war, revealing how impossible it is for the Germans to act with honor under any circumstances. The sinking of the surrendered German fleet which was anchored in the Scapa Flow, England's northern naval base, and the simultaneous scuttling of the German warships at Kiel and other German ports, showed how little the Huns regarded their word as given to the Allies and how they regarded every convention made with them as a mere "scrap of paper," and their insulting references to the Allies in the final note accepting the peace terms shows their utter boorishness. These acts have served one good purpose, however. They have shown the Allies they must be forever on their guard against German treachery in the future and put down with iron hand the first attempt at treachery. With the formal signing of the peace pact by representatives of all the governments concerned, which will be on Thursday or Friday, the world war will be declared at an end but from then on it will be a war of wits to prevent Germany from taking advantage of every loop hole to escape the fulfillment of the terms.

WHERE PROHIBITION SUCCEEDS

Critics will not be impressed by the Boston committee which got from twenty-six governors of states having prohibition hearty approval of its results. They will point out that many of these governors were elected on "dry" platforms; that those who were not would find it politically risky to raise doubt concerning prohibition. But what will they say of the replies from the ten largest "dry" cities, Detroit and Washington the chief, Omaha the smallest? The mayors and police heads are almost solidly enthusiastic for prohibition, the chief of police of San Antonio alone giving a non-committal reply. Mayor Couzens of Detroit reports 26,000 fewer misdemeanors and a cut of one-third in admissions to the poorhouse; the first deputy police commissioner declares that "general conditions have greatly improved," and has received 100 letters from manufacturers "saying they would not go back to wet under any circumstances." "Good results," states Washington's police superintendent; "a success from every standpoint," the acting mayor of Seattle; "a success," Mayor Jewett of Indianapolis; "of great benefit," Mayor Mills of Denver; "a success in every way," Mayor Key of Atlanta. What a horrible thought that in January, 1921, our own city officials may be uniting in similar indorsements!—New York Evening Post.
